GOV. BLAINE PICKS MEN TO INTRODUCE HIS SPECIAL BILLS

Fight Will Be Centered in Senate—Many Assembly Changes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison—The message of Governor Blaine to the special session of the legislature which convenes Wednesday, March 22, will be short and include the points mentioned by him in his proclamation calling the session and in his supplemental statement issued at that time.
Following the governor's message, which will be received probably at 11 o'clock, bills will be introduced by Senators Severson and Huber in the upper house, and by Assemblymen Dahl and Schuchman in the lower house, proposing the repeal of the secrecy clause, and extension of authority to the tax commission to more thoroughly investigate income tax returns.
It is not believed that there will be as much opposition to the bill for extending the work of the incalculable of the tax commission back over a period of six years, but the question arises as to whether it is worth all that money the taxpayers will spend for the special session. However, the tax commission in its propaganda for the bill says that the state will get several hundred thousand dollars from the six year period. This without repealing the secrecy clause. The fight staged will be in the senate. One of the leaders for the repeal of the secrecy clause came from men on the other side. The repeal trend is toward

Janesville Again Faces Home Shortage With Desire for Better Residences and Moderate Rentals—Question of Finance and Local Investment

Janesville is confronting a housing problem that is serious and while not so acute as when there were many hundreds of families coming to the city seeking residence, is still disturbing. The demand for modern houses, small in size and of apartments for rental has increased. There are practically none to be had. The moving that is being done now is merely a shifting of the people. There are scores of people in Janesville who would build their own home if there could be a way to finance them. There is still room for several apartment buildings at moderate rental for the apartments. But we have a hard time—almost an impossible time—to finance such a project. Several millions of dollars of Janesville money have gone to outside investments in the last year. Great sums have been invested in the bonds of apartment houses in Chicago and other cities. Bond salesman find here an excellent market for money to build up other cities but none for Janesville. That is a severe statement but nevertheless true. With a view of covering the whole situation the Gazette has compiled the information which will be presented here in a series of articles from day to day. This is the first of the series on RENTS.

First Article—Rents

"Where may I find a house to rent at a moderate price?"
Real estate operators here report an unusual number of inquiries received daily from people anxious to relocate in homes more suitable to their present needs. A large reborn desire is on foot among families who have lived here many years as well as among those who came more recently.
It is a process of straightening the tangled that arose during the boom period when hundreds of families moved into any sort of dwelling because it was the only one available. Just as fast as they can, they are now getting out to places better fitting their pocketbooks or their tastes. The general trend is toward

SCORE OF NATIVES KILLED IN BRITISH EAST AFRICAN RIOT

UPRISING FOLLOWS ARREST OF INDIAN AGITATOR.
POLICE ATTACKED
Mobs Disperse Only in Face of Murderous Fire by Troops.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London.—Twenty natives were killed and 30 wounded at Nairobi, British East Africa, Thursday, in rioting which followed demonstrations over the arrest of the Indian agitator Thuku, says a Central News dispatch.
Thuku was arrested Wednesday and trouble immediately followed. About 1000 natives, armed with sticks, assembled before the police station and demanded his release, but were dispersed by police with bayonets. Early Thursday a strike of house boys and other native workers was announced and further disturbances occurred, in which large numbers from the surrounding district participated. Mobs looted shops and forced all Europeans to alight and walk. The efforts of armed police to clear the streets failed.
When the situation became menacing, the riot got wild and the demonstrators were exhorted to disperse quietly. Instead, they advanced toward the police palisade, waving flags and shouting. Women were used as shields by the men to delay the police.
Meanwhile military forces had arrived. When the mob attempted to rush the palisade, the troops were ordered to fire. Seeing 50 of their number cut down by the bullets, the remainder of the mob stampeded.

Theater Interests Plan Gigantic Control Combine

Chicago.—A number of leading theatrical and theatrical productions of the United States will be merged under one centralized management, according to the Chicago Herald and Examiner, which reported that it formed plans for a $100,000,000 combine.
According to the newspaper, A. L. Erlanger and J. J. Lee Shubert, who negotiated the merger of their respective interests here last week, were negotiating with Charles B. Dillingham, Al. H. Woods, Florence Ziegfeld, Sam Harris, George M. Cohan, the Selwyns and others to join forces.
The proposed merger, it was said, specifically aims at elimination of needless building of new theaters, overlapping of shows, and the merging of similar types of attractions simultaneously. The theaters would be booked under centralized management to avoid such conflicts and to secure better business. Smaller cities would be allowed only one high class theater, it was said.

Robinson New Bureau Officer

[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Elkhorn.—Miss Robinson, Lake Geneva, was elected field secretary of the Walworth County Farm Bureau at a meeting here Thursday. She succeeded William Foster, resigned, and will take office April 1. Patrols Keep Alert Watch to Prevent Open War Along Frontier.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Belfast.—Tension along the Tyrone-Mananan border is increasing daily and the population of these affected districts are filled with anxiety.
Reports received in Belfast today from Aughnacloy, county Tyrone, stated that 500 additional members of the Irish republican army had moved to the frontier and taken up positions between that town and Caledon. "Flax mills and farm houses in that locality are being commandeered and bridges and roads are made practically impassable. Traffic is possible only through the fields and lanes."
Much firing went on during last night. Thursday night shots were heard by the sentry at the Aughnacloy special barracks. It was surmised that the republican troops, fearing an attack had fired at a group of men in the moonlight. Special constables from Aughnacloy and Caledon were on patrol duty in Lifford all night.

MYSTERY OF BURIED SILVER BOTHERS POLICE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Buffalo, N. Y.—The police and sheriff's office today were trying to solve the mystery of how bar silver worth $2,000 and $4,000 came to be buried on the farm of Lewis Salmon, on the east of the Niagara river near Lisle.
A woman called on a Buffalo jewelry with a sample of the metal which he had turned up with a spade. Learning that it was real bullion, Salmon reported his find to the police and accompanied by an officer, returned to the farm.
They dug up 44 bars, each six inches long, three inches wide and half an inch thick. The soil showed no sign that the bullion had been recently buried. The bars were found at varying depths from one to four feet below the surface of the ground.

BOOZE IS FOUND BURIED IN GARDEN

Police Look Around Italian's Back Yard, Getting 4 Gallons.
They're burying it in their back yards now.

So Chief Charles Newman and a squad of patrolmen discovered late Thursday when they raided the home of Mike Restivo, 214 South Pearl street, dug around in the garden and falling to find any liquor in the house, and uncovered moonshine in three different holes. About four gallons was confiscated.
Restivo and his son, Tom, were arrested and arraigned in municipal court, charged with the possession of liquor. Their examination was set for March 22 and they were released when bail of $500 was furnished.
Police were able to find the buried treasure (?) because of the freshly disturbed earth. In the garden was found first, then a one-gallon jar, and finally a three-gallon vessel, all well filled.

LIQUOR COURT IS SOULMANS TESTIFY PLAN IN CHICAGO IN GRUNDY CASE

Cases Cluttering up Dockets of Other Tribunals in City.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago.—A special liquor court for the trial of thousands of cases that now are cluttering the dockets of federal and state courts, was being planned Friday by State Attorney E. E. Crowe.
This action followed the request of local federal officials that the state take jurisdiction in some 3,000 cases pending in federal courts. The request was made by United States District Attorney Charles E. Crowe and it was believed here the move was part of a nation wide plan.
United States Attorney General Daugherty had recently made it clear that he wanted state prosecutions and that there was no intention that all such cases be set to federal jurisdiction.

The final game, which is hoped to be between Evansville and Wisconsin High, will be played at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Third place will be played off at 2:30.

MATHESON MAY NOT ATTEND THE SPECIAL SESSION

From every part of the state Friday came inquiry as to whether A. E. Matheson, member of the assembly from the 2nd district, would be present at the special session. A leader in the assembly during the winter session, he is looked upon as a tower of strength against any radical legislation. No word had come from him up to noon Friday. He is in California where he went for a rest and to visit with his family, who are spending the winter there. He had arranged to leave for the east and be home sometime about Easter. It would require him to leave not later than Sunday from Cleveland, Calif., in order to reach Madison by Wednesday at the opening of the special session.

Fannie M. Cox, City Librarian, Resigns Office

Miss Fannie Cox, Janesville librarian for two years, has tendered her resignation to Fred L. Clemons, president of the board, effective April 3. Miss Cox will assume charge of distribution at the Atlanta, Ga., public library and will be a member of the faculty of the Atlanta Library school. She came to Janesville in January, 1920, from Detroit.
Miss Cox is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin library school and during the war was in Washington, D. C., and later in El Paso, Tex., distributing books to soldiers.
Statistics show the library here has gained 27 per cent in circulation during her term of office, or 18,000 volumes.
"Miss Cox's work has been eminently satisfactory and we are sorry to see her leave," said Mr. Clemons in confirming the report of Miss Cox's resignation.
The library board has taken the selection of her successor under advisement.

Shopping as An Art

Shopping is truly an art. Did you ever stop to notice how differently people go about buying things?
Some rush hurriedly into a store and buy what they need, the clerk displays to them; others shop around carefully, comparing values and prices. Needless to say, the latter one secures far greater values for their money.
Then there are hundreds who get even more for their money than the above class. They satisfy their wants through buying from the many bargains listed in the Classified Advertising Page. They have found it pays to watch for bargains in the Classified Advertising, columns of the Gazette.
And when they want to dispose of any article, they naturally list it in the Classified Page. The returns they receive are more than worth the investment. Try it yourself.

FREIGHT RATES ORDERED CUT; LUMBER LOWER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington.—Railroad freight rates from Indiana points to St. Paul and Minneapolis were held by the Interstate Commerce commission today to be too high in comparison with rates to the same points from Illinois, Missouri and Iowa territory equally distant from the coast.
Passing upon complaint of the Indiana public utilities commission the federal commission ordered railroads participating to equalize the differences by increasing the rates in the territory which now has the lower basis. Both class and commodity rates are affected.
New Orleans.—A reduction in freight rates of southern pine and cypress from points in Louisiana west of the Mississippi to points in Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana, similar to a recent cut in hardwood lumber rates, was announced by the Southern Pacific railway. Reductions range from 1 to 3 1/2 cent per hundred pounds.

Yoo Hoo, Skinnag! C'more'n See Tha Girls Play Marbles

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Boston.—The boys of Greater Boston are making a stand against feminine assault on a sport-hicerto almost exclusively their own, the game of marbles.
On the sidewalks of the suburbs since signs of spring appeared, passers-by, forced to detour to the curbings, have found girls almost as numerous as boys in the games. The sisters play for keeps, too, and often with a skill that has sent their own and other brothers home with hands soiled and knees muddled, and mothers find cause to lament the trend of the times.
Another change in the condition of the game as played by the new generation is the substitution of pennies for the agates and glass discs that were the objects of shot and roll in the old days.

JUST A ROUND-UP FOR THE POLITICIANS

Cheaper to Hold Special Session Than to Call a Conference.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Madison.—If you want a conference and a round-up of the legislature at Madison it is cheaper to call a special session than to take the money out of the campaign fund.

That is the way it looks to the man up a tree here at the present writing. There is need for a getting-together of the more or less discordant elements in the radical party and here is a fine opportunity to make the taxpayers foot the bill.

Getting Cold Feet.

Some of the members of the legislature heretofore in the Blaine camp have been getting cold feet because of the stand of the governor on the liquor issue. The crisis by the Order of Camels and the generally accepted story that the Sevenson bill was signed only after the senator

J.M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

HAPPY ENDINGS

An eminent figure in the field of public entertainment is quoted as follows: "I think the time has come when the public no longer demands 'happy endings'—with the final embrace and wedding bells in prospect—in its books and plays."

He may be right. But for our part we believe most folks will cling to the wholesome, old-fashioned habit of demanding that their fiction and drama "turn out right in the end."

In the everyday drama of retail business, auspicious beginnings are worthless without happy endings. It is the final and lasting satisfaction of the customer at the completion of every transaction, large or small, on which the permanent prosperity of a store is founded.

This store insists on happy endings.

from Waupaca whose name is attached to the law, had threatened to leave the Blaine camp, but has been having his Blaine forces who are personally committed to the dry law. Also the record of LaFollette on the wet and dry issue is harrowing. His notorious opposition to prohibition and the record of his vote against all measures for enforcement when the hour was at all critical has made it hard to bring enthusiasm from many who are deeply concerned over the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Seeking a Legislature.

While Mr. Blaine is concerned with his own success it is a part of the program for the radicalization of the state to elect a legislature that will do the bidding of the governor's office without interference which was so far as raising any money for campaign purposes. The cash box is apparently empty and that situation has reduced the enthusiasm of the chief leaguers. One by one, in groups all the local leagues have fallen by the wayside. The last blow was from further himself, when Robert M. pushed the Townley organization to one side and told it to keep off the grass.

The special session gives promise of being a grand reunion of the Old Guard of LaFollette. It will be a winning bet to say that more politics will be talked than the legislation for which the legislature is ostensibly called. There is no extra pay for the job, only mileage and Madison restaurants are no cheaper than last winter. Mr. Blaine announces that the bills will be all ready and all he will do will be to place them in the hands of John Dahl, the boy orator from Barron and say, "Here they are, pass these bills."

Some of the assemblymen are dead, others have acquired post offices and still others are busy trying to pay off the deficit created by last winter's session and therefore assurances of a sad time are fairly good.

McKerrow and Morgan.

Talk of the nomination of George McKerrow for the United States senate here and it is agreed that he is the man to carry the state if he will run. The disaffection over LaFollette is greater than has been supposed. It is cropping out daily. The prohibition forces are almost solidly arrayed against him and there has been no break in the ranks of the service men who remember the days of 1918 and are not named away by the tales of a bonus so palpably for political purposes. It also is generally conceded that William J. Morgan will be named by the conference at Milwaukee June 1, as a candidate for governor.

Kansas City, Mo.—The government is responsible in the main for the present price of shoes. Earl C. Logan, St. Louis, told one hundred members of the Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska Retail Shoe Dealers' Association at their convention in the Hotel Muehlebach. His subject was "Why Hides Are Low in the Country and High in Shoes."

Mr. Logan, at the beginning of his talk, announced that hides now cost a little less than they did in 1914, but that the retail price of shoes was on a par with prices of 1918.

Seventy-five per cent of the difference in the cost of the shoe in 1914 and now is due to "the excessive cost of government," the speaker asserted.

Taxation, Mr. Logan said, was levied on shoes many times in the transition from the animal hide to the foot covering. "Do you mean," one of the dealers interrupted, "that in the case of the pair of shoes you have cited, which sell at about $5.25, approximately $1.50 of that sum represents taxes?"

"Yes," the speaker answered. "High freight rates were also held partly responsible for the increase cost over 1914."

IN WISCONSIN

La Crosse.—Five hundred hook and line fishermen attended a hearing before the conservation commission here and demanded that all waters in La Crosse county be closed to seining, as they are ruining game fishing in the sloughs, lakes and main river.

Waterbury.—Although the Jefferson county highway commission rejected the bids received for the highway bond issue, the work of constructing concrete and hard surface road will not be held up, according to Commissioner Royce. The commission decided not to offer the bonds for sale until next June.

Merrill.—The cost of operating the public schools in Merrill last year was less than the cost of operating schools in 15 other cities in Wisconsin, according to a table just received by Supt. H. W. Kircher. Merrill spent $37.93 a pupil for teaching and supervision.

La Crosse.—Mrs. Elmer Vinegar, La Crosse resident since 1864, and the only woman here who served as a nurse in the Civil war, celebrated her 83rd birthday.

SALE OF CHILDREN IN HONGKONG HELD DISGRACE TO BRITAIN

(By Associated Press.)

London.—The sale of boys and girls at Hongkong has been denounced as "an abominable scandal in a British possession" at a meeting of the Anti-Slavery Aborigines Protection Society here.

St. Loe Strachey, editor of the Spectator, wrote that if the facts were as represented, the state of affairs in Hong Kong represented the vilest form of slavery in existence when young people were deliberately sold and subjected to the cruel lust and greed of their purchasers.

A resolution was passed declaring that continuance of the system amounted to the continuance of slavery under the British flag.

We Sell Good Paint We Give Paint Service

Try Du Pont Tufcoat on that old discarded chair, the result will surprise you.

Paint your house with Du Pont Prepared Paint. It lasts.

Supremis Floor Finish—the first floor varnish and still first in quality.

To get satisfactory paint and varnish results you must do two things:

- 1—Select the right paint or varnish for the particular job.
- 2—See that it is properly applied.

You may be figuring on repainting your whole house this season—or perhaps refinishing the interior, or maybe there are just some odd jobs that require "touching-up" that you can do yourself. Whatever your paint plans are, no matter how large or how small, drop in and let's talk them over together. No obligation—that's our business—and we know our business.

Probably you'll be in the neighborhood tomorrow. And tomorrow is a good time.

There is a Du Pont paint or varnish product made for every purpose by America's Great Chemical Industry.

H. S. "Aggies" Show How to Prepare Seed

BY ETHEL VOGEL.

Milton Union Graduate.

An illustrated talk on preparing grains for seed was given at the Rock County Training school Thursday afternoon by Allen B. West and three members of the agriculture class of the Janesville high school. The boys were Stewart, Walker, Floyd Stone, and Whilden Hughes, all of whom live on farms near Janesville.

The speaker pointed out that each year millions of bushels of wheat, rye, oats and barley are unnecessarily wasted. One of the worst enemies is smut. Smut starts at the root of the plant and gradually works up, showing how necessary it is that the seed should be properly treated. The boys demonstrated various treatments for smut. Each kind of grain should be cleaned by running it through a fanning mill before beginning the treatment. For barley one pint of formaldehyde to 30 gallons of water is used. Place the barley into sacks and then into the solution, letting it soak for two hours. The same as for barley, using one pint of formaldehyde to 35 gallons of water and soaking from 5 to 8 hours. The sprinking can method may be used for all grains. The grain is soaked out on canvas and sprinkled with a solution of one pint of formaldehyde to 35 gallons of water. Turn the grain during the process. The hand atomizer is another device used for treatment of oat seed. The seed is placed on a canvas on the bare floor and sprayed with a solution of one pint of formaldehyde to one pint of water. This solution is sufficient to treat from 40 to 50 bushels of oats.

The latest device used in treating grain seed is a smut treating machine, which has recently been placed on the market. It consists of a hopper and an auger, the auger being about 8 inches in diameter. The grain is soaked in the solution and placed into the hopper. The mixture is then pressed, the seed remaining in the hopper and the solution sweeping through the openings at the bottom. Training school students were much interested in this work.

Garden Truck from the South on the Market

With slight changes in the market this week, Janesville grocers have placed orders for large amounts of spring produce from the southern markets to arrive within the next few weeks. Butter went up the past week and is now selling for 38 and 40 cents a pound, an increase of about two cents. Other necessities of the household remain the same.

Fancy head lettuce is 15-20 cents per pound, and leaf lettuce 35 cents a pound. The quality is improving with each shipment as are other things coming from the south. Large grapefruit is selling two for a quarter and smaller ones four for 25 cents. Cabbages from Texas are 7 1/2 cents a pound. Dried onions are 10 cents a pound and present indications point to higher prices. Better celery is coming in, which is being sold for 15 to 18 cents a stalk. Beautiful large parsnips are selling at 5 cents a pound. For a side dish, carrots shipped from Texas are good. Grocers are asking 10 cents a bunch. Cranberries may still be secured, but due to the wetness of the season, the quality is diminished. Strawberries are still a luxury at 70-75 cents a quart.

Fancy cooking and eating apples may be had at 10 cents a pound. Oranges are selling for 40-45 cents a dozen. Bananas remain the same in price, 12 cents a pound. Potatoes are the same, 35 cents a peck and $1.35 a bushel. Eggs are selling for 25 cents.

Next Week is "Home-Baking" Week

To impress this saving on everyone, next week will be "Home-Baking" Week. This means a new era of better baking, more wholesome baking, more economical baking.

New Dr. Price Cook Book Free at Your Grocer's Next Week

During "Home-Baking" Week every grocer will give away with each purchase of Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder, the new Dr. Price Cook Book, containing the very baking suggestions every woman wants. It contains over 400 delightful recipes like the following:

ORANGE CREAM LAYER CAKE

3/4 cup shortening	1 cup milk	4 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder
1 cup sugar	1 1/2 cups flour	1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 egg	3/4 teaspoon salt	1 cup sweetened flavored whipped cream

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually, beating well; add beaten egg, one half the milk, and mix well; add one half the flour, which has been sifted with salt and baking powder; add remainder of milk, then remainder of flour and flavoring; beat after each addition. Bake in two greased layer cake tins in moderate oven 15 to 20 minutes. Spread the whipped cream thickly between the layers. Cover top with

ORANGE FROSTING

1 tablespoon cream	3/4 teaspoon orange extract
1 cup confectioners' sugar	1 tablespoon melted butter
Pulp and grated rind of 1 orange

To the cream add the sugar slowly. Add orange pulp, rind, extract and melted butter. Beat until smooth and spread on top of cake.

Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder is the most wholesome low-priced Baking Powder obtainable. Guaranteed to contain no alum.

Act to Shield Investors in Bond Company

Madison—To protect holders of Madison Bond company collateral gold notes, Marshall Cousins, Wisconsin banking commissioner, Friday appointed a bondholders' protective committee and urged persons holding notes of the company to communicate immediately with this body. Victor H. Arnold, who gave Madison a $20,000 Christmas dinner, is president of the company.

Mr. Cousins, in a statement Friday to banks of Wisconsin, that customers of Mr. Arnold had been advised that these bonds would not be paid at maturity or would default on their next interest payment.

"Believing it is essential that collective action be taken by the holders of the notes to protect themselves, I have appointed J. L. Hopkins, president of the Bank of Wisconsin; A. O. Faurek, vice president of the Commercial National bank and John S. Allen, former member of the railroad commission, a bondholder's protective committee," Mr. Cousins said.

Banks are requested to communicate immediately with the committee, as he said immediate action is necessary to protect the investments.

FASHION SHOW BRILLIANT DISPLAY OF NEW APPAREL

such a variety of modes and colors, and materials as this year. It would almost seem that fashion designers are flaunting their products, challenging the most fastidious, daring them to say that they just can't find anything that suits them. In suits there are the long coats, belted, ruffled or tailored modes in direct opposition to the butterfly mode which allows the flapper. Long haired furs make a neckpiece for the suit or may be thrown carelessly over the arm. Every store is showing an unequalled brilliancy.

Costs and Suits.

No attempt at deception is made in wraps and coats; for the sleeves are belted, in extreme models to the point of displaying the entire arm. Capes still hold sway, even setting off dinner dresses which are completed by a cape effect made of lace or cotton crepe. In sport wear knicker-cuffs are being shown with hues. Camel's hair, one of the new materials for wraps and coats, makes a soft, drapy mantle. These are trimmed with braid, French knots and fringe, the latter hanging from the sleeves in a most effective manner. Knitted, angora capes were displayed for children, which is a new wrinkle in kiddie wear. Because of the loose and open style of wraps, gorgeous linings have been inserted which are quite alluring.

Navy, henna, bisque and zinc street dresses are shown. These were in strictly tailored styles, and also more elaborate frocks combined with color trimmings, belts or flying panels. Speaking of panels, they are still fashionable enough to call out the uneven length in gowns made by a dash hanging below the hem of the dress. Dinner dresses of cotton crepe, crepe knit, crepe satin, swiss tulle, cotton faille, and crepe pasha were exhibited. No matter where you go, there's something to ravish the eye.

Glorious Apparel

Spanish lace combined with these silken fabrics makes for glorious apparel. Taffeta party gowns in pastel shades, with an occasional black lace answered the question of evening formality. These gowns were hooped, and accented with puffed, cut skirts. More festive coloring, than ever, contributes to sport wear. Sponges, printed crepe, and crepe knit, with the new established jersey are alluringly combined in the most cosmopolitan of all apparel—the sport outfit. The blackie are here with both feet clanking that they are entirely proper for tennis, golfing, and hiking. No one who saw the fetching knicker outfits at Bostwick's Thursday night can gain any idea that they are wicked intruders into the land of fashion.

For Stout Women

Summer frocks of organdies, graduation apparel, and accessories of the trousseau, are other features of the show, was the exhibiting of wearing apparel for stout women.

In the dark ages of last year the mation who had taken on weight was seen to sigh enviously at the sylphlike creatures who lifted down the promenade. But even the most portly dames waxed enthusiastic Thursday night when more than 30 garments were exhibited by a model who was above the average in weight—and the most satisfying thought of all was that she wore her gowns with as much grace as the flapper model. It can be done.

Jade green combined with Perrywinkle, beige, and white is popular. Other triumphs of fashion's paint pots are grey, mownawk, coniflow-er and algonquin blue, honey d-w.

bisque, orchid, canna and henna. The beautiful hats which added such a nifty touch to the coats, suits and gowns, were loaned by Mrs. Harry Woodstock of Woodstock's Millinery shop.

Gowns Turned Away

T. M. Bostwick said that he was well pleased with the popularity of the style revue at the Bostwick store. More than 500 were turned away because they could not be given space to view the show. He also said that no garments were especially imported for the show, that all are to be found in the ready to wear department of the store.

The Guarded Heights

By WADSWORTH CAMP

Copyright 1921.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

George Morton goes to work at the heights of the plantation. He is a horse trainer and as a part of the job acts as groom to Sylvia Platter when she rides. Sylvia is thrown from her horse and thinking her unconscious, George kisses her, calling out that he loves her. She drives him from the place and George threatens her brother, who goes to her room and tells her of the affair. She seeks an education, goes to Princeton, meets Dally, a tutor, who goes to her room and tells her of the affair. She seeks an education, goes to Princeton, meets Dally, a tutor, who goes to her room and tells her of the affair. She seeks an education, goes to Princeton, meets Dally, a tutor, who goes to her room and tells her of the affair.

Dallymple shook his head, but George took him and led him guessing that Dallymple feared the subject of the notes.

"Dad humor!" George said. "You seem to be the only one up. I don't mind chatting with you, but I can't go on. What is those wedding parties are stupid, don't you think?"

Possibly George's manner was reassuring to Dallymple. At any rate, he yielded. George took off his coat, sat in an easy chair, and pressed the call button.

"What's that for?" Dallymple asked, uneasily.

"Sit down," George said. "Stupid and dry, these things I'm going to try to raise a servant. I want to go to bed. You'll join me?"

Dallymple sat down. No moistened his lips.

"On the wagon," he muttered. "A long time on the wagon. Place to be, to and all that."

George didn't believe the other. If Dallymple cared to prove him right that was his own business.

"Before prohibition offers the steepest no limit," Dallymple muttered. "Got my reasons—good enough ones, too."

"Right," George said. "Only don't leave me to myself until I've wet my whistle."

And when the sleepy servant had come George asked him for some whiskey and soda water. He talked of the Alstons, of the war, of anything to tide the time, but for some reason the bottles and glasses, and during that period Dallymple's restlessness increased. Just what had he been sneaking downstairs for in the middle of the night? George wondered. The other's eyes drew to the tray when the servant had set it down.

"Why did he bring two glasses?" Dallymple asked, irritably.

"Oh," George said, carelessly, "I suppose he thought—naturally—having a beautiful, anyway."

George poured a drink and sipped contentedly.

"Dry rations—biscuits," Dallymple complained.

"I've an idea—wedding—special occasion, and all that. Change my mind—up here—one friendly drop—"

George watched the frosty drop expand to half a tumbler full, and he observed that the hand that poured was not quite steady. It wouldn't be long now before he would know whether or not Dallymple's reformation was merely a pose in public, a pose for Sylvia.

Dallymple sighed, sat down, and talked quite pleasantly about the horrors of Chaumont. After a time he repeated his phrase and repeated the performance a number of times with diminishing intervals. George smiled. A child could tell the other was breaking no extended abstinence. He drifted from war to New York and his apparent success with the house of Platter.

"Slavery, this office stuff," he rattled on, "but good fun to get things done, to climb up on the shoulders of men—oh, no idea how many. Morton and the other only good to push a pen or pound a typewriter. Of course, you know, though. Done plenty of climbing yourself?"

His enunciation suffered and his assurance straggled as the carafe emptied. No extended abstinence, George reflected, but almost certainly a very painful one of a few days.

"Am making money, Morton. A little, not much," he said confidentially, with condescension. "Not enough by long shot to pay those beastly notes I owe you. Know they're over due. Don't think I'd ever forget that. Want to do right thing, Morton. You used hard words when I borrowed that money, but forget, and all that. White of you to let me have it, and I'll do right thing."

A sly look of content overspread his face. He expanded. His assurance seemed to crowd the room.

"Wouldn't worry for a moment 'bout those notes if I were you."

Martha Merriweather has decided to "grow old gracefully." At least, she calls it growing old gracefully. Ideas of grace may differ.

Martha has just passed the 45 mark in years and is positively near it in waist line. So she's going to "settle down" and stop going out to clubs or entertaining much or "fussing generally." She's going to "take things easy" and chuckle and knit, and nap a bit after lunch, and play with her new grandbaby.

Martha is immensely proud of her decision. She points with scorn to her erstwhile classmates—Nattie, who has been married for years and taken up aesthetic dancing; Helen who's wearing herself ragged over politics; Grace who has turned a perfect tramp doing charity work and Joe who is dying from one polio attack to another when she isn't having nervous prostration.

"Why can't they settle down?" asks Martha, and proceeds to give demonstration of settling. She doesn't read because John will tell her all the news anyway. She doesn't walk because it hurts her feet. She doesn't "fuss" at all—she just doesn't.

And if someone should come along and tell her that a Particularly Spineless Garden Slug has nothing on her, she'd have a large hurt tear. But it's the truth. Martha isn't philosophical as she fondly imagines. She's merely lazy—lazy mentally, morally and physically.

Martha has no more right to let that fat accumulate around her waist line than she has to let dirt accumulate on her hands. From a physiological viewpoint, the dirty hands are more excusable and much safer. She has even less right to let fat accumulate around her mind. It will require some slight exertion to keep the fat from both waist line and brain but it's simply up to Martha to keep it off.

She doesn't have to take up violent exercises or wild fads. But she does have to keep moving, mentally and physically. And if she doesn't, she's right on a par with Sally Snail who settles on a cabbage leaf and eats herself to death. So, too, is "growing old gracefully."

Growing old gracefully.

Listen, World!

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlyle H. Holcomb

IN SEARCH OF MR. LION

When Tinker Bob, the King of the Forest, helped the powerful lion out of the pit where the native expected to keep him (the lion) he was killed, there was a great stir among the jungle folks. This had never happened before. Some thought it was not a real lion that had been caught. Others thought the Great Spirit had carried him away. No one, save Tinker Bob, knew just how he had gotten out. Tinker, himself, didn't know where he had disappeared to, all he knew was that in his mind at the time he was captured there was the thought of those three little children who would be left alone.

"Tinker," Tim the little elephant, who astonished to see such a thing happen. "Where did he go to?"

"I'd kindly like to have you tell me that very thing," said Tinker. "I can tell you where he went," said Silky. "He went to his child. I know he did," Silky jumped.

English Muffins—Scald one cup of milk and add one large spoon of butter. When lukewarm add one-half a yeast cake dissolved in a little warm water, about half a cup. In a big tubspoon of sugar, one-half teaspoon of salt and sufficient flour to make a drop batter, beating very thoroughly; cover and let rise for two hours. Heat and toast in a hot oven. The muffins, placing the latter in the former and half filling with batter. Bake in a moderate oven thirty minutes until a nice brown.

Roast Lamb or Mutton may be used in various ways. It may be sliced and eaten cold with relish or caper sauce as in the above menu, or it may be minced and served over toast. In the latter case mince it in the food chopper with a little parsley, green pepper, onion, salt and pepper; add a tablespoon of flour and a cup of water or stock, cook until thick and put in a nice brown bread. The bones of the roast may be put into a sauce pan, covered with cold water, simmered slowly for two hours, let cool, the fat removed, then seasoned, and vegetables doled out and gravy left from dinner, and broth thus made served as first course for dinner or as the principal dish for lunch.

Cranberry and Raisin Pie. Roll the pastry and fit it in the tin with one cup of cooked cranberries and one-half cup of seeded raisins cut in half. Put over them three-fourths of a cup of sugar and one tablespoon of flour. Cut one teaspoon of butter into bits over the top. Put on top crust and bake in a moderate oven.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS

To Mend a Fur Coat—This suggestion may help those who find their fur coats pulling apart after a short time of wear.

Get some back mending tissue at any notion counter. Place coat on ironing board right side up. Cut a piece of material, satine or cambric, an inch larger than the hole you're going to patch; place smoothly between inner lining and skins.

Now cut the tissue double, same size as material, and place on top of same.

Heat a sad iron (not very hot), turn mending tissue on thick newspaper. Now gently push iron (on newspaper) under the tear. By the time the heat comes through lining pull the edges together, pressing down gently with fingers, and rub down the nap of fur.

Caution: Be sure your iron is not very hot, and do not let fur turn under edges of tear.

Holes can be patched the same way by cutting fur to match and not lapped over on the top.

BEAUTY CHATS

HOLLOW SHOULDERS

There are several ways of fattening hollow shoulders. I would advise the girl who is unfortunate enough to be thin here to try several of the following methods:

First, and possibly the most important is deep breathing. Sometimes the only trouble with a thin, anemic, hollow chested girl is that she does not get enough fresh air. First thing in the morning when she gets up she should go to the open window of her room, with a warm robe, of course, wrapped around her, and take ten long, deep breaths of air. It may seem a great effort to get up and do this, but the vigorous wide awake feeling that will follow will more than repay her for the effort. At various other times during the day she should also practice deep breathing.

The second thing is to stand straight. Deep breathing exercises will help strengthen her shoulders. The better health that is born to follow an adequate supply of fresh air will make her unconsciously hold herself better.

A third valuable hint is this: Massage the neck, shoulders and chest every night with a little warm cocoa butter. Cocoa butter can be purchased in small cakes for a few pennies. If you hold one of these cakes near the heat it will begin to melt and should then be rubbed over the skin.

Kitty—Since you want to give a reddish tint to the hair, you should use henna and not peroxide, as this bleaches it to a startling shade of gold. If you need a formula for this send a stamped addressed envelope and I shall be glad to mail it to you.

Kitty—Since you want to give a reddish tint to the hair, you should use henna and not peroxide, as this bleaches it to a startling shade of gold. If you need a formula for this send a stamped addressed envelope and I shall be glad to mail it to you.

There are several ways of fattening hollow shoulders. I would advise the girl who is unfortunate enough to be thin here to try several of the following methods:

First, and possibly the most important is deep breathing. Sometimes the only trouble with a thin, anemic, hollow chested girl is that she does not get enough fresh air. First thing in the morning when she gets up she should go to the open window of her room, with a warm robe, of course, wrapped around her, and take ten long, deep breaths of air. It may seem a great effort to get up and do this, but the vigorous wide awake feeling that will follow will more than repay her for the effort. At various other times during the day she should also practice deep breathing.

The second thing is to stand straight. Deep breathing exercises will help strengthen her shoulders. The better health that is born to follow an adequate supply of fresh air will make her unconsciously hold herself better.

A third valuable hint is this: Massage the neck, shoulders and chest every night with a little warm cocoa butter. Cocoa butter can be purchased in small cakes for a few pennies. If you hold one of these cakes near the heat it will begin to melt and should then be rubbed over the skin.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I graduated from school some time ago, but some months after graduation I reopened the acquaintance writing a letter to the girl.

It was two months before she answered, but she made an apology, saying that the letter had been mislaid. We then exchanged several letters and I took the liberty of calling her on the telephone and asking for a date.

Do you believe I should keep on trying, or let her go?

A READER.

If the girl were really interested in you, she would either find a way to see you at the times you suggest, or she would tell you when she would be free and in a position to see you. I would advise you to give her up and wait until you are interested in some one else who will also be interested in you.

HOG BREEDERS JOIN TO DEVELOP STOCK

Clarence Croft Elected President of Duroc Association.

Swine breeders joined hands at the annual meeting of the Rock county Duroc Jersey Association held in the Rock county fair building at 10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with more than 100 farmers and Janesville business men attending.

Following the banquet there was a series of inspiring addresses and educational lectures. The paramount idea of the meeting was boosting the swine industry in Rock county, the Duroc center of Wisconsin.

The officers of the Duroc association elected were as follows: Clarence Croft, president; Richard Walsh, vice president; J. A. Ruchti, secretary and treasurer with Henry Wieland, George Morrison, B. J. Little, Harry Deily and Fred Waldman as directors. Clarence Croft succeeds J. J. McCann.

Promote Livestock
"The trouble is that farmers have not produced and marketed their stock," Clarence Croft declared in his opening speech. "Every one has theories and solutions for the industrial state but I still think the production of better swine—the foundation stock of the farm—maintains the stability on the farms. By feeding stock the farmer saves double. Try."

Michigan Farmers Form Four Great Market Agencies

Farm bureau work in Michigan has been formally placed on a commodity control basis after a year's successful operation under what has been known as commodity control plan. At its recent annual meeting the Michigan Farm Bureau affiliated the four great marketing bodies of the state and amended the state farm bureau constitution so as to give them a share in the government. Organizations affiliated were the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange of 150 locals and 15,000 members, the Michigan Live Stock Exchange of 120 locals, the Michigan Milk Producers' Association of 10,000 members and the Michigan Elevator Exchange of 97 affiliated local elevators. The foregoing changes are said to do a combined cooperative marketing business of about $25,000,000 annually.

The commodity organizations affiliated with the Michigan Farm Bureau on the basis of their common interests and to provide machinery whereby they might work together more efficiently and exchange special services. The commodity plan provides for the marketing of the major agricultural commodities of a state by commodity organizations de- voting all their attention to the marketing of a certain class of products. The commodity organizations affiliated with the farm bureau on the basis of their common interests. Their common needs are quality seed, economical purchases of supplies, legislative matters, traffic problems, wool pool, organization work. A farm bureau member of one commodity body is entitled to all the privileges of all the commodity organizations. The special service of the farm bureau organization.

POTATO SHIPMENTS MUST BE HEAVY TO MOVE OLD CROP

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Madison—March shipments of potatoes from Wisconsin must be heavy from this time on if all stock in the state is to be marketed, the department of markets says in its potato review. Many growers and dealers who have been holding their stocks through the winter in the hope of a higher spring market are now said to be increasing the movement of their supplies. Estimates of present potato supplies in the state range from 4,500 to 7,000 cars. The department estimates that about 7,500 cars have been shipped compared to 12,000 last year. Other potato sections of the country are reported to have moved their stocks early while Wisconsin held out for increased prices.

Prices being paid to farmers for U. S. Grade No. 1 Round Whites range from $1 to $1.25 per hundredweight compared to 80 cents to $1.05 at this time last year.

WOMEN AND MEDICINE.

In her book, "The Woman and Medicine," a woman named Hildegarde wrote a notable book on medicinal plants. In those days the men were too busy bothering about dogmas of religion and medicine, and the study of herbs was thought beneath their notice. It was the women, however, who mostly conducted the herbals and cared for the sick, and thus they learned the value of herbs. They learned the men fight out the questions of theories. E. J. P. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound prepared almost fifty years ago by a woman, Lydia E. Pinkham, is a book on medicinal plants. It is a vegetable compound and of great value for this purpose. This is proven by the fact that in your own neighborhood, by grateful women who have used it.

AT DEATH'S DOOR

"Ten years of stomach trouble reduced me to a living skeleton. I had attacks of pain that doubled me up like a jack-knife and I was as yellow as a gold piece. No medicine or doctors helped me and I was ready to give up. My family brought me to you, and you gave me the only medicine to touch my case. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the cause of the trouble. I am now a healthy man and I am glad to recommend this great medicine to the public."

WISCONSIN TOBACCO MARKET.

Madison—The Tobacco Reporter says: "The market has registered no surprise, and no new developments during the past week. The American Tobacco and the American Tobacco interests, represented respectively by Thomas A. Blanton and the American Tobacco Company, are still in the market. The market will cover their needs the prices continue to 12 cents. According to reports, but which is true, it is also true that many who had entertained hope of selling at these prices are not offered the price of 12 cents. The market is not ready to part with their leaf at this price either are turning their crops over to the cooperative warehouses to put up for them. The steamers have been back lately during the last few days. They have stocked up pretty well and can afford to reduce price."

I know, because it made me feel like a different woman after I'd gotten in serious condition as a result of kidney and bladder troubles. Trutona rid me of the severe pains and I'm glad to recommend this great medicine to the public."

EVANSVILLE AND BADGERS ANNEX EASY VICTORIES

(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Whitewater Normal Gymnasium. Whitewater—Playing a poor game, Janesville defeated Fall River, Friday morning, 11 to 5. By doing so they won the right to meet Madison High at 7:30 p. m. Friday.
The same lack of ability to shoot free throws that has followed the team all season stuck with it.
The squad missed many short shots for which there appeared no excuse.

(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Whitewater Normal School Gymnasium. Whitewater—A strange hard luck that settled upon them in the second half of a mighty battle defeated Janesville High school in the opening game of the tournament here Thursday afternoon. At the close of the game the crowd was so large that the game was dropped before the smashes of the blues showed over the heating upon the lower city lads. The final score was 13 to 11.
The Janesville-Union game was the fiercest fight of a triplet of scraps. The only team that had a walkway was Evansville. Tournament favorites, who contended to give Fall River one free throw, winning 25 to 1. Elkhorn dropped to Lake Mills, 10 to 5, while University High topped Madison's chances, 17 to 6.

Coach Reynier's squad of Janesville players were off-color for the Milton combat. Everybody admits it. They missed shot after shot that should have been easy for them.
As the first half closed, the blues were in the lead by the dangerous margin of 7 to 5. Then came a mighty and smashing game, for the whole of the second period as both teams surged in their frantic hopes of coping the win. Until the last minute, it was anybody's game. Time after time, the Janesville boys lifted the ball to the hoop, and a shot, and it rolled off and laugh at their attempts.
Free throws defeated the Bower city. Both teams scored four field goals a piece but Janesville through with five free throws to Janesville's three.

17 Personal Fouls
The game between the two Capital city teams was marked by 17 personal fouls, with Paeley being put out with four and Otis coming near it with three. The first half was terrible, ending 5 to 2. Then University high stepped out and lashed their brothers.
Elkhorn lost to Lake Mills, 10 to 5, in the final minute of play. This battle was extremely close all the way, the half ending 4 to 3.
Game Thursday are Janesville vs. Fall River; Madison vs. Elkhorn; Evansville vs. Milton Union and University High vs. Lake Mills.

Evansville to Celebrate
Evansville—This city is backing its high school basketball team to the limit at the Whitewater Normal tournament. Saturday the Baker Manufacturing plant will close and accompany the Evansville band and several hundred rooters to see the finish.

BELOIT OUTCLASSED BUT WHIPS BELVIDERE

Lucky Beloit! Outclassed and behind 90 percent of the game, the defeated made one of their comebacks at Beloit Thursday night, and defeated the Belvidere Union club, 25-25, in the last few minutes of play. "Shorty" Ray, of Illinois Wesleyan, president of the American Referees' association, officiated and the game was one of the fastest and cleanest seen there this year. Ray had the Beloit fans fanned and also the team. Dutton, Earl Watson and Mike Knapp starred for the Fairies.

53 single entries have been received for the national handball tournament to be held in Milwaukee next week.

Any prediction of the victor of a mixed match between Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champ, and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, heavyweight wrestling champ, would be a pure guess. The only thing to go on is a few days ago when a wrestler defeated a boxer. Dempsey is fast, heaves a sledge hammer fist—which will be worse with bare knuckles—and is a murderous in-fighter. Lewis has it over him in muscle and brute strength. Let the "Strangler" once get Dempsey on the mat and Jack will be in a bad way even if he is a fair wrestler.

There is discussion going the rounds against naming All-Star athletic teams. Any argument against this interest-boosting scheme sounds like the growth of a certain hysteria which has come out of recent professionalism investigations. The professional has no place among amateurs but why lose our heads over the ethics of sportsmanship.

The district pocket billiard tournament of the Wisconsin Athletic association to be held here next Monday night is another step forward for Janesville in the world of sports. The advent of the state association a year ago was a boost for clearing the cue game in the Badger state. The Bower city is particularly fortunate in being able to land the meet.

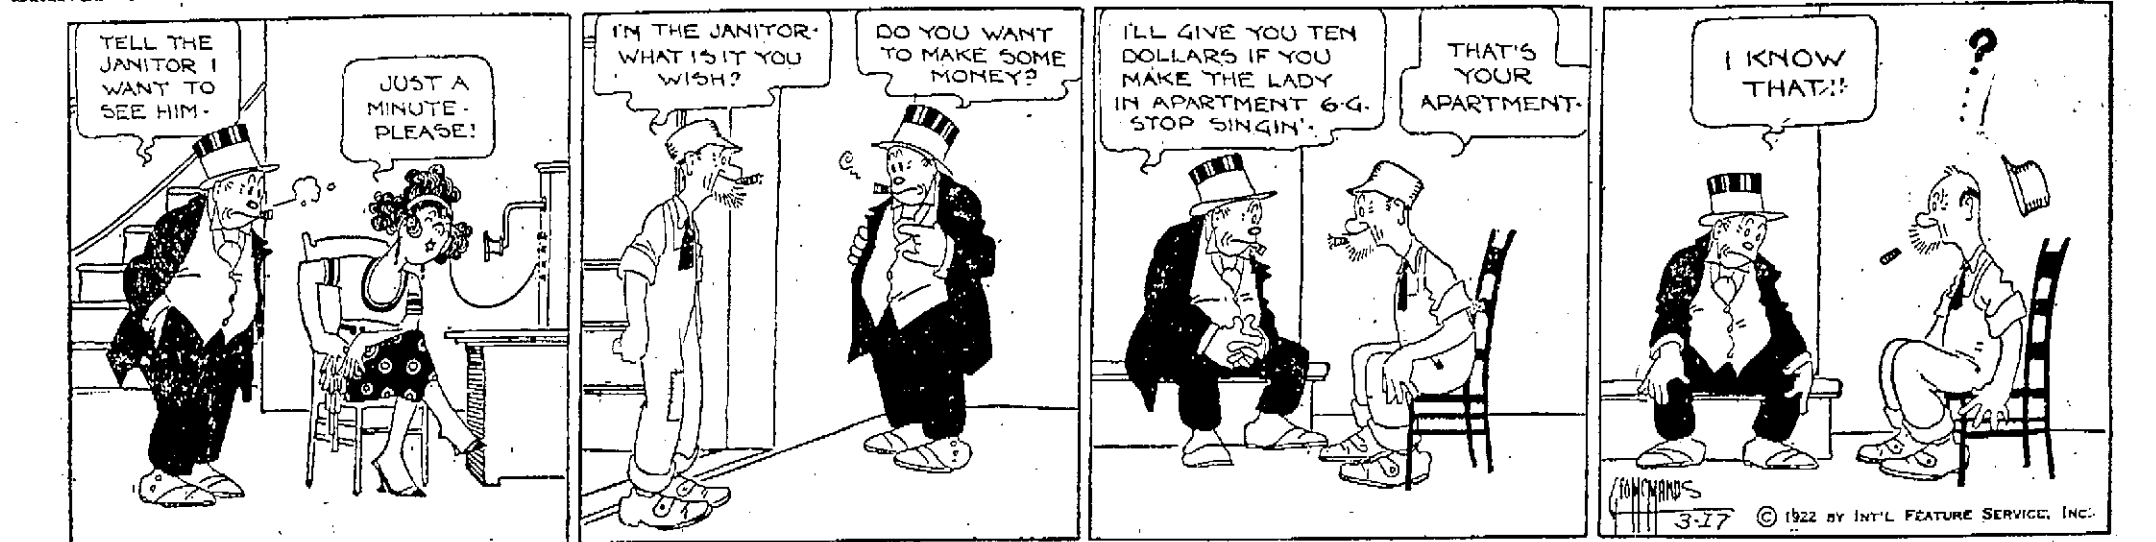

"There is a lot of money in the fight game. Look at what Dempsey got and what Leonard is making." Thus said a chap sitting at the lunch counter, the other day, of a score they play the "baby act" and insult the town that might happen to be entertaining them as guests. Such Chicago traveling clubs have been preying upon small towns for years and a movement to stop their lack of sportsmanship and ungentlemanly conduct is to be greeted with praise.

"I was not able to understand how it could be right, to pay an actor, or a singer, or an instrumentalist for entertaining the public, and wrong to pay a ball player for doing exactly the same thing in his scheme being worked in all large cities to secure good players by giving them nominal employment in stores, warehouses, etc. It seemed to me to be educating young men in a school of false pretense." Not some college scandalized college president talking, only A. C. Spaulding in "America's National Game."

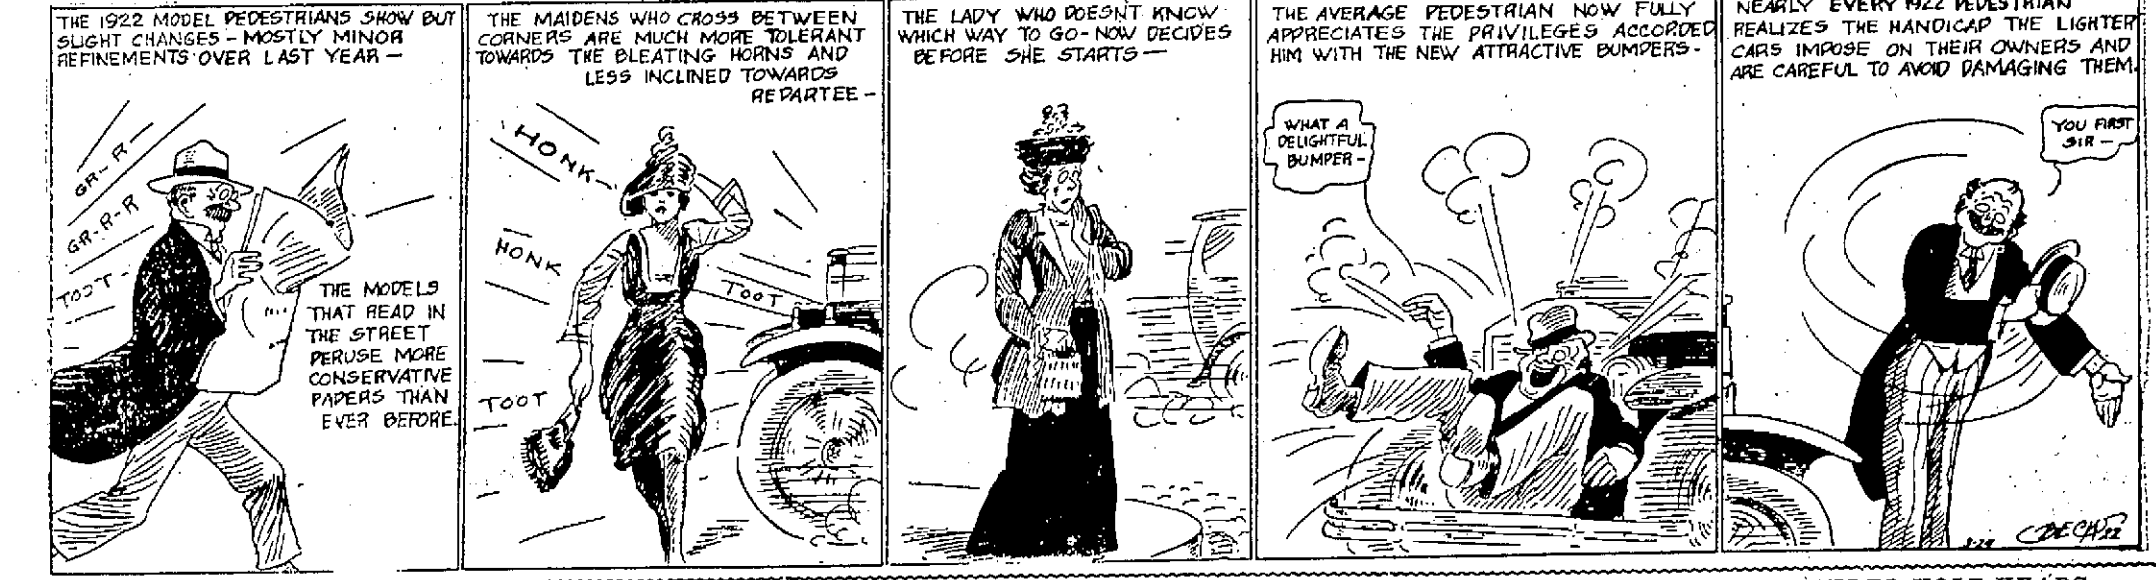

At Baseline Campus—Dabe Ruth broke an otherwise quiet day by putting a four-bagger with the base hit in a Yankee practice game at New Orleans. The two St. Louis clubs claim they will win the respective buntings. Georgia Tech held the Phillies, 10 to 5, Friday Detroit again plays Georgia Tech; the Cards and St. Paul clash and Cincinnati meets Port Worth. Perles kicked Thursday with the Cardinals and Joe Hauser will join the Mackinns.

William T. Tilden 15, tennis champion, has taken A. L. E. L. 14 years old, as his partner in the doubles at New York March 25.

Messick Tops Local Bowlers at U. S. Meet

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Toledo—Janesville bowlers found the going pretty tough on the drives Thursday of the American Bowling congress meet here. The shining light of the Bower city Pin Knights was Walter Messick, the only Janesville man to get into the coin. Messick gathered a total of 1,792 in the all-events, the mark that will get him some money. Rolling 52, he carried "Doc" Richards in the doubles, the pair getting 1,199. In the singles, he scattered the maples for 614, which will bring him some dough. In the live men his mark was 535.
Other Janesville scores were: Hirth and Art Pye, 1,089; C. Grant and E. Merrick, 1,060; T. James and Ed Simon, 1,037; P. Kirchoff and J. Cornell, 1,032.
Singles totals were: W. Messick, 614; Richards, 609; Simon, 588; James, 562; Hirth, 549; Pye, 544; Cornell, 533; Kirchoff, 527; Merrick, 443; Grant, 442.
Thursday night, the floors of Dayton went into first place in the meet with 2,316. Other standings:

The Stocking Beautiful

MARTHA 4-FOOT

is the most beautiful all silk stocking made, owing to the cloth being woven and dressed in such a manner that it gives elasticity about the ankle, allowing the foot and heel to slip into place with out leaving wrinkles, giving a perfect AN-KLE-FIT. Milanese and Tricot-Glove Silk is made finer and firmer than the knitted stockings. Will retain its lustre and stand more abuse and wear than any all silk stock, and

POSITIVELY WILL NOT RUN
This stocking is called Martha 4 Foot, for it will stand 4 or more new soles, heels and toes, which is a wonderful saving. Many stockings are thrown away because the soles, heels and toes are worn beyond further darning. Think of the expensive lace kind, meeting the same fate, then consider what this repulsive line means. You can afford more handsome stockings to blend with your gowns and shoes than ever before. Martha 4 Foot is not cloudy or streaky, and is not transparent.

Representing These Two Great Tailoring Firms
Invites you to call and see the New and Refreshing Style of Wools for the SPRING and SUMMER SEASON.

IT IS the most comprehensive and pleasing line that I have ever shown—pleasing both in the exquisite colorings—the rich texture—and the reduced prices—Suits ranging from $25.00 to $50.00, and every pattern is Guaranteed to be All Pure Wool or Wool and Silk.

FOR 15 YEARS

I have been striving to find the Best Tailors that are, to make my clothes—I have tried many of them and they were all found wanting in some ways. I wasn't satisfied until I discovered "The American Tailors." Now I've decided looking or trying any more. This firm excels in the Tailoring game—their fits are most perfect—they do not want me to let any garment go out that is not perfectly satisfactory—their trimmings and workmanship are of a high grade.

EVERY ONE WHO READS

knows about the Ed. V. Price & Co. line—they are nationally known, and are at the top. With these two superb firms back of me, I am not afraid to have the most exacting and critical customer come in and buy, knowing that he will be satisfied if he makes a purchase.

THERE MAY BE

some firms as good (if there are, I have not met them) but none better than these two high class ones.

AS TO PRICE

and Quality—what I can show and the price I give will be a surprise to you. $32.50, $35.00 and $40.00 are wonders. The Reason is that I am just on the fringe of the high rent district, and no overhead to worry about. When a slump comes, like we have been going through, I will save you 5c for every step you take both coming and going from the H. R. D., besides the walk will be beneficial to you. Business is coming right along but I want you, too.

Rents and Housing Problems

The situation they see no hope this year. This is due primarily to their state, to extreme difficulty in procuring mortgage loans in Janesville, to the building and secondly to a fear that now is not the opportune time to construct. Where a family wishes to own a home, it is trying to buy instead of build, upon the assumption it can do so at a saving, even if inconvenced by not getting some of the arrangements desired. The real estate men say such people are correct in their belief.

Records show
What the people want is told frankly by the records of the Chamber of Commerce. Since the first of March approximately 60 calls for houses to rent have been listed. The demand has jumped to three inquiries a day. These are for 5 or 6 room homes by families who seek lower rent or more room. They are mostly from people who have lived here for some time, only a few being from recent arrivals. These will pay $20 to $25 a month, most of them ready to give up some modern conveniences although they would like them if they are to be had. Fifty percent of the inquiries want garages.

Against this situation, the Chamber has but few houses listed for rent, only two of which have all modern conveniences. One is a seven room house renting for $50, the other a bungalow of 5 rooms for which $25 is asked. Others are not centrally located, the cheapest of which is $17, the most expensive $25.

Flats and Apartments
When it comes to apartments, flats and light housekeeping rooms, people are not so particular as before, the Chamber says. Rents of $25 to $35 are being asked for one and 2 room light housekeeping suites, furnished, 10 of which are listed. These prices are paid cheerfully. Only two flats and two apartments are on the cards at $20 to $30 while five other flats at the same prices have only stove heat. An occasional call for a furnished apartment or house is received, the people willing to pay as high as $60.

Calls Are Numerous
"We get a half dozen calls a day without advertising," says Ralph J. Kamps of the Taylor-Kamps real estate company. "When we advertise, we get 25 to 50 and sometimes 80 anyway we have to go out to keep away from the telephone."

The average call is for 4 to 7 rooms renting at $25, preferably modern and centrally located, he points out. People who have lived in small towns all their lives want to be within a short distance of their work, he asserts, while those coming from large cities want to be further out away from smoke and noise.

Nothing to Offer
"The trouble we experience is people do not take into consideration the man who owns a house has money invested and should get a return on it," Mr. Kamps declares. "They want all modern conveniences but hate to pay for them. The business or professional man will pay $25 to $40 but that rent comes pretty hard on the laboring man."

"There is practically nothing to offer because there is nothing here," he continues. "All the desirable houses are rented. The types of places now advertised for rent, in the majority of cases, are old places."

"The need here is for a tenant house at a moderate rental, of which there is a great shortage. I believe you would get 100 calls for such houses from people living in places unsatisfactory to them. The highest rents now being asked are $10 and the lowest $25, but there is nothing more to rent."

Need for Apartments
There is a need in Janesville, according to Mr. Kamps, for two or three apartment houses of four, five and six rooms at rental of $25 to $40. The ratio of calls for apartments to houses is one to five.

If you wanted to build an apartment house here, in Mr. Kamps' opinion, you would be unable to sell bonds locally to finance the project. Yet, he explains, a banking firm of Chicago will send its beautifully printed literature here on the same kind of an enterprise—one about which less is known—and dispose of many of its bonds. He declares also that much money is going out of town for investment that would help the city progress if put into building projects here.

Further, he states:
"The people of Janesville have no reason to lose confidence in their city. Our firm has perhaps been the biggest advertisers of real estate because we know that Janesville is coming out all right."

Real Estate Activity
There has been more real estate activity in the past month than in the 12 or 15 months preceding, remarks Mr. Kamps. This has been in active business and in prospects for the future.

"I cannot account for it," he explains, "unless it is because of a more optimistic feeling upon the part of the public due to a natural reaction after holding out so long. The tendency now among people is to believe real estate prices have got to come down to a normal basis where they believe they can buy a house cheaper than to build and I think their belief is well founded."

Again "No Houses to Offer"
There is a big demand by the older residents of Janesville and the recent additions to the population for better or cheaper homes, declares Mr. J. Cunningham, one of the veterans of the real estate business here. He says the call for small modern homes is large and the people willing to pay $25 to $40 or $45 while the request for small flats is heavy. But there are no houses to offer, he says.

There is a decided shortage of small modern houses and flats," Mr. Cunningham finds. "There must be something in the population for better or cheaper houses. What houses are available are not modern and are isolated."

Rents Are Still High
There is very little difference in rentals from a year ago, reports Mr. Cunningham. "There must be some reason for this," he states they have come down but little.

What Janesville is losing by not being able to fill the need is cited by Mr. Cunningham in the experience of a young mechanic. He wanted a small home at a moderate rental and searched without success. About the same time, he received an offer of a job at Stoughton and because he could get the home there he wanted, left the city with his family.

Cheaper House in Demand
The daily experience of J. L. Terry of the Terry Realty company is a dozen inquiries for homes renting at $20 to $25 with all conveniences. People are willing to go a little further out near the edge of the city, he says, and are more willing to otherwise inconvenience themselves than in the past.

"It is very seldom we rent a high priced place," he declares. "People are getting away from the fine type of home."
"There is no surplus; in fact, a shortage of houses here," he announces. "But the times do not warrant building now. What houses there are rent for $20 and $25 for 6 and 7 rooms."

What Janesville needs in the housing situation is a class of houses of 5 rooms, not all modern, to rent for $15 to $17, Mr. Terry believes.

Going Out of Town
"I know of a contractor who would build such tenant houses," he asserts, "if he saw a demand."
The financial situation is what holds most people back; he finds for too much money is being invested out of town and little aid given to the prospective builder through the medium of mortgage loans. Mr. Terry does not find much sentiment favoring the building of apartments or flats mainly because most families desire to live undisturbed in their own home, particularly where there are children.

How great is the demand for cheaply rented homes he illustrates with an experience. He had a place outside the city to sell for $500 down and the balance as rental at $25.50 monthly. He had 12 calls the first day and so many thereafter he had to stay away from his telephone.

GOV. BLAINE PICKS MEN TO HANDLE BILLS IN SESSION

In the senate. After next year he will not represent Rock county as that county will have its own senator.

Tax Commission's Position
With increased funds to carry out its investigational work, and with authority to extend its probe over a period of six instead of three years, the tax commission believes that it will be able to return hundreds of thousands of dollars in unreported taxes to the state and municipalities.

Additional taxes collected on general incomes is divided, 70 per cent to municipalities, 10 per cent to counties and 20 per cent to the state, while funds collected under the soldiers educational bonus special income sur-tax and the service recognition sur-tax, go directly and entirely to these two funds.

During the past three years when the commission has had auditors investigating tax returns nearly $1,000,000 additional in tax has been returned each year, from the small number of corporations whose books were audited.

The legislators are expected to agree with the governor that additional money should be afforded so that the commission carry its probe into the books of all concerns in the state, and even to individual reports.

Especially is this expected to result, since additional auditors recently added to the commission staff with $40,000 borrowed from the soldiers' educational bonus fund, during the first month they have been in the field have returned much more than their expenses for the full year will amount to.

Secrecy Might Be
The principal trouble is looked for in the light for passage of the bill to be introduced calling for the secrecy clause repeal. With a close division in the assembly of last session, three anti-administration members will be absent on Wednesday, giving the governor greater certainty of a majority.

Assemblyman E. A. Kenyon of Buffalo and Pepin counties, died recently, assemblyman A. E. Matheson of Rock county is in California and assemblyman Clark Perry of Winnebago county resigned to become assistant prohibition director in Wisconsin.

The senate has been divided against the administration previously and it is expected that the principal fight will be waged there.

FRANCE WILL PAY ALL DEBTS, AVERS PREMIER POINCARÉ
[By Associated Press.]

Paris—Premier Poincaré told the finance committee of the senate Thursday that France will pay all her debts, as has been her custom.

This declaration is interpreted by the press as intended to correct the impression made by Louis P. Loucheur's speech in Lyons last month in which he said, it was his belief that France never would be able to pay a cent of her debt to the United States.

Mr. Poincaré's statement is commented on as harmonizing with the declaration made by former Premier Clemenceau a year ago and the more recent assurance given by Minister of Finance De Lasteyrie that France will fulfill every obligation.

GETTING AT TAXES FROM THE CROOKS

How Can the Underworld Be Made to Meet Income Tax?

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.
Washington — Bootleggers, hand-book makers, or any other class of individuals of the underworld paying a tax on income derived by fraudulent or unlawful means, are not likely to have their offenses called to the attention of other branches of the government or state authorities.

"The primary function of the income tax division is to collect revenue," said Carl Stipes, solicitor of internal revenue, today, "and to see to it that proper returns are made for all income received. We are far too busy to do anything else but, of course, if any other department of the government calls upon us to collect the income tax return of any individual or business, we are bound to permit inspection."

It is another obstacle, however, in the way of prosecution. Would an income tax return, made out and sworn to by an individual, constitute evidence? Doesn't the federal constitution require that the right not to incriminate himself? Those points have been raised by government lawyers with the result that they are considerably in doubt what could be done with an income tax return which disclosed that an individual had been engaged in unlawful pursuits.

Income Tax and Prohibition
It is true that the prohibition enforcement agency of the government which is a part of the treasury department could ask for any returns it wishes and if it suspected that an individual was engaged in violating prohibition laws, careful watch could be kept for evidence of further transactions. But it is a matter of much doubt whether the income tax return showing a lump of past transactions would be of any value without further evidence furnished by persons who had knowledge, for instance, of the sale of liquor illegally or of any other violations of existing laws.

Inasmuch as the income tax division is anxious to get as much revenue as possible and does not feel its duty is to inquire how any man makes his money, no matter how, it is not likely that the income tax division will be a source of information as it was thought they would be. There is reason to believe that many bootleggers, for example, are sure of their ground that they are making out their returns without fear of difficulty. Just how they describe their business is difficult to know, though it is supposed the words "commissions," "broker" and kindred terms now contained on the income tax forms are broad enough to cover most of the activities of the bootlegger and handbook maker.

It will immediately be asked why a man who makes his money through illicit means should hesitate to evade paying income taxes. But there is a check upon failure to pay income taxes. The government has the right to compel banks to produce records of its depositors. Similarly, the government can ascertain whether an individual had any money or not by examination of the books of concerns which may have sold goods to him. Even cash transactions, it is contended, can be traced.

One of the most interesting cases of income tax evasion occurred recently but was not made public. The government learned that a certain individual had a large sum of money available but had made out no income tax return. Inquiry disclosed that the individual feared making out a return because he had received his money through handbook making. He thought that if he told the source of his income, the state authorities might possibly find it out and prosecute him. He was assured that if he told the state, such a request the federal government was not bound to call the matter to the attention of the state in question. He still hesitated.

The government learned that his income was approximately $50,000 and proceeded to make out his income tax return for him and invited him to make such deductions as he felt he was entitled to have. He asked for no deduction. The government submitted its bill for taxes due and the individual in question paid it without a whimper—and that's the last we heard of the case.

Incidentally the act of the nation may inspect federal income tax returns for the purpose only of checking up income taxes due them. It is not considered likely that the income tax division of the treasury would seek information for one purpose and use it for another though this is within the realm of possibility.

The fact is the internal revenue agents want all the income they can collect. Other agencies of the law are obliged to detect and prosecute fraud and law breaking. There is a legal compulsion upon a federal officer to report violations of a law in another division or department of the government—no more than rests upon the conscience of any citizen outside the government.

ONCE A TEACHER ALWAYS A TEACHER

Madison—A teacher does not "cease" to be employed or engaged in teaching by merely leaving the state or county unless he actually stops professional teaching, and he is not entitled to withdraw his accumulations from the Wisconsin teachers' retirement fund law. R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, advised the annuity board.

"It is apparent," the opinion held, "that a person does not cease to be employed or engaged in teaching by merely leaving the state or county, and since teaching is expressly defined to include employment either within or without the state, it follows that a person who after leaving this state continues to teach in another state or country has not ceased to be employed as a teacher and is not entitled to withdraw his funds."

NOTHIN' DOIN'!

Atty. General Explains About Delinquent Tax

Madison—The handling of delinquent taxes by towns and counties is explained by J. E. Brennan, assistant attorney general, in a statement given to correct previous newspaper stories based on an opinion written by him.

He points out that the town treasurer is obliged to make a diligent effort to collect all taxes on his rolls, and that all taxes which he is unable to collect must be returned as delinquent to the county treasurer, who shall accredit the town treasurer with the amount of taxes returned as unpaid.

All taxes returned as delinquent belong to the county and are collected for its use, but if the delinquent taxes exceed the sum due the county for unpaid taxes, such excess when collected shall be returned to the town.

In the collection of delinquent taxes the county treasurer first fills the county fund and it is only when the county treasurer has collected upon the delinquent levies that he may make payment to the town.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor, Gazette:
I have been thinking as spring draws near it would be kind of nice to talk about playgrounds, not that I have the least idea that anything anyone could say would influence the women who are most active in spending the taxpayers' money.

I thought the city might run a piece of land in the suburbs, get a few cows and let the boys, who have so much energy to put in yards, care for them, then the children could have milk right fresh and the boys could play ball and roll if the cows could stand it. Run the bus out several times a day, have a doctor and nurse, so the dear little people will be well and fit.

It would take quite a strain of people living near the school grounds and do away with the filthy conditions that exist in summer.

A teacher from Ekshon in passing the Washington school said, "Little children would not have such a parking place as this." How nice it would be if this school would fall on good ground but it won't, it will fall on the same old rocky soil.

WILL AID SYRIA TO BE LEAGUE MEMBER

Belur, Syria—France contemplates granting to Syria a certain amount of autonomy which will gratify the country to become a member of the League of Nations. It is reported here. Rumor add that France will recognize the existence of Syria as a sovereign state and will agree also to the constitution of a Syrian parliament and the establishment of a Syrian ministry.

SOME DIFFERENCE IN THIS METHOD

No Machine Boss Selecting a Ticket When Conference Meets June 1.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Milwaukee—Contrasting the senator's method of handpicking a political slate and the method proposed by the Citizens Republican State Conference to give all voters an opportunity of endorsing candidates, Senator George B. Skogma, secretary of the Citizens Republican State Conference, today denouncing this attempt to secure control of the state.

Machine Politics
"Machine politics have taken hold in Wisconsin," said Senator Skogma, "and one of the greatest political machines ever put together is now hard at work endeavoring to put across its own candidates. This was made evident when the senator announced his handpicking of state officers, the 'friends of the people' and the self-appointed leaders of righteousness have shown their hands in ignoring their own repeated denunciations of a machine."

"The friends of the people," the senator said, "are more than ready to endorse or back a boss a state that this attempt by would-be reformers and political demagogues. Preparing to fight for the people, they have built up a machine the like of which has never been known in the state."

A vast difference between this method of selecting a group of men working for their own candidates and that sponsored by the Citizens Republican State Conference. On June 1 there will be held at the main hall of the Milwaukee auditorium, a meeting by the Citizens Republican State Conference. To this conference will come some 2,000 delegates and alternates, men and women pledged to fight destructive radicalism and the demagogues who preach it.

Not Hand Picked.
"These delegates will not be hand-picked but will have been selected by conferences of the voters held in each county May 10. The conference and this organization are in striking contrast to the methods adopted by the alleged 'friends of the people' who, seeing defeat staring them in the face despite their bombastic statements, are making a last futile effort to retain their jobs."

LIMA CENTER

(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Lima Center—Word was received from Roswell, N. M., of the death March 6 of Mrs. Stone, wife of the late Dr. Stetson, who lived in Lima Center several years prior to 1910. Mrs. Stone, who was 92 years of age, died at her home in Lima Center, Ind. Wednesday to visit her daughter, Paula, who is teaching music in the public schools there. Mrs. George Bechtolt, superintendent of conferences, United Brethren church will preach in the Lima Center church at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, March 19. Dr. Donald McComb has left the University of Wisconsin and is attending Lawrence College, Appleton. Electricians are busy wiring business houses and private dwellings as they will be built from Whitewater to Lima Center. To comply with a recent ruling of the U. S. labor board the C. FLAPPER IS JUST THOROUGHLY HUMAN FEMALE, SAYS DOC

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago—There is nothing mysterious about the flapper—the is just a female who has lived down thousands of years of hypocrisy and now has become what she most desired to be for ages, a human being. Dr. L. A. Stone, head of the Chicago health department, said Thursday in an address before a health conference.

"Flapperism—or modern feminism—is just the revolt of youth," added Dr. Stone. "It is the resumption of the original status of mankind."

Dr. Stone said a more wholesome relation between young men and young women was needed and urged discussion of social hygiene as a means of bringing this about.

SHOPIERE

Shopiere—The Shopiere teachers attended the county teachers' meeting in Janesville last Saturday. Harold Smith spent the week-end at the home of his parents, near here. A number of friends and relatives from this vicinity attended the funeral of Roland Conway in Janesville last Sunday. He was a nephew of Mrs. Norman Howard, Palmer and Louise Spicer, Pellet, were over Sunday guests of Shopiere friends, and attended a basketball game in Clinton Saturday night. Rev. H. J. Collins

STATE MUST PROVE TITLE TO A LAKE

Madison—The state will have to prove its legal title to Kaministiquia Island in Eastern Lake, Iron County, before it can lay claim to the property. R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, advised the conservation commission.

Just what has happened to the island during its history is in doubt. Some say that it was formerly submerged and reappeared after the government survey, while others say that the government map which failed to show the property was incorrect, made.

"Whatever may be the rule, if the island reappeared after being submerged," Mr. Hoyt said, "it is clear that if the island was formerly a part of the mainland and never did become submerged it belongs to the owner of the mainland. If the government map was incorrect when it made the island belongs to the state."

"If the map was correct when made and the present situation is the result of changes in the identity or character of the lake, then the island belongs to the owner of the mainland." Mr. Hoyt pointed out that, under the circumstances, it would be necessary for the state to prove its legal title to the property before it could claim it.

addressed the High-Y class of the Clinton Y. M. C. A. Friday night, on "Choosing a Vocation." The Shopiere boys defeated Emerald Grove Saturday night at the Clinton Y. The roads near Shopiere are again in a fair condition, though still rough and rutty in some places. The ice has gone out of the creek without damage. The Methodists held their third quarterly conference Thursday night. Rev. J. W. Turner delivered an interesting lecture on "The Efficient Church." W. Swingle is making extensive improvements on the building used by Paul Wold as a garage. Mr. and Mrs. Erna Breitkreutz are expected home this week, returning by auto from California, where they spent the winter.

Mr. FARMER, what do you think of this? Isn't it just what you need? ... A REAL FARMERS' EXCHANGE

FARMERS' EXCHANGE
For Cash Only.

CLINTON. A top-notch Duroc breed; exceptional breeding and individuality; in pink of condition; just the type to build up your herd. Can make a bargain cash price on one or all. Swinehurst Farms, Route 3, Box 66.

DAILY CATTLE. 4 high producing Holstein cows; 1 yearling; 1 serviceable bull. All reasonable in price. Prairie Stock Farm, Phone 2511 and 2512.

BULLS. 1 Brown Swiss, ready for service; best blood lines; accredited herd. Low prices for quick sales. R. E. Coler, Route 66.

CHICKS. White Rocks; one to four weeks old; also some fine cock and laying hens of well paying strains. Clinton Hatchery, Box 100, Clinton.

SOY BEANS. Best 12 San variety; guaranteed good yield. Try Soy Beans as legume crop with corn. It pays. Price out right now. Jos. Apple, Route 10, Box 100.

HONEY. heavy quality, graded, best table quality. Rock County Beekeepers Assn.

Every farmer who reads this knows that there is a market right in his own county for all his extra cattle, hogs, horses, sheep, poultry, seeds, butter, honey, potatoes, wood and machinery.

He knows that many persons in Rock County want and need the very things he would like to dispose of, but he does not know who they are nor how to reach them. So he keeps his extra stock, produce and equipment at a loss, perhaps finally getting rid of them at much less than he can get for them now.

Every farmer probably also knows that the very persons who want what he has to offer are readers of the Janesville Daily Gazette, for there are few houses in Rock County, outside of Beloit, wherein the Gazette is not read. So it's up to The Janesville Gazette to furnish cheap, economical means of balancing Supply and Demand, and that means is afforded by a new column of Classified Advertising very soon to be started.

This new column, composed of farmers' offerings, will be headed "Farmers' Exchange" and will be subdivided under two-headings as follows:

"For CASH Only"
Under this sub-heading may be offered such things as must be sold for cash—when cash is needed more than the things other farmers may have to offer. Offerings advertised in this group.

Should Produce Ready Money
Now, Mr. Farmer, at the beginning of this announcement we asked you two questions. The answer is up to you. The Janesville Gazette is out to further your interests every minute of the day. Of all its services, to farmers, this "Farmers' Exchange" seems to us one of the very best. Is it? What do you think?

"For SWAP or Cash"
Advertisements under this sub-heading offer things in exchange for other things wanted, although cash is acceptable. They have a more ready market than the "cash only" offerings, and make it possible to Understand, please, that the Gazette is offering this service, but it is up to the farmers to start it and keep it going. It won't be started until twenty farmers have sent in advertisements, so if YOU feel it is an exceptionally good thing, send yours in today.

When it is started it will be advertised in big announcements like this one every day it appears on the Classified Advertising Page until every Gazette reader is thoroughly familiar with the "Farmers' Exchange."

You can express your approval by filling in the order form below and mailing it with an advertisement, like the samples on the left, offering some of your excess products or equipment for cash or swap.

Returns from an Advertisement are multiplied by the number of days published

THE JANESVILLE GAZETTE

MOST ANYBODY CAN MAKE USE OF IT

Madison—Green Lake county has a fund of "some thousand dollars" that it is at a loss to know what to do with, Charles E. Lovett, district attorney, informed the attorney general.

He says that the supervisors are looking for a way to get rid of the money.

J. G. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, in reply advised him that the cash collected through a series of taxes to provide for a county training school should be placed in the sinking fund for the purpose of repaying indebtedness, and after all indebtedness is paid and there is no further use for the balance, such balance may be put into the general fund of the municipality.

A bond issue for a county training school was adopted three years ago and county officers have each year assessed the tax to meet the bond issue.

Recently the board decided that it didn't want a training school, and found itself with thousands of dollars it didn't know what to do with.

NEVADA MEN SEEK 4 CARS OF STOCK

Combining Rock County for Grade Dairy Cattle With Test Records.

Three representatives of Nevada, D. E. Scott, who was graduated from the University of Wisconsin and is now teaching agriculture in the Nevada university, C. A. Brennan and J. W. Wilson, county agents of the western state are in Rock county seeking to purchase four carloads of dairy cattle.

Because the Nevada ranchers and farmers have plenty of alfalfa which cannot be marketed profitably by freight shipments, money has been advanced to purchase dairy cattle to be distributed among the Nevada farmers to feed the hay crops. They inspected a number of the dairy herds in the county on Wednesday and will continue for two or three or four more days.

Reuter Stock Sales

The coming of the Nevada agents desiring to purchase in our lead lots emphasizes the need of better county organization for livestock sales and further the county development of stock that the buyers want. All three men were astounded at the quality of stock in Rock county, expressing satisfaction at the type of cattle here.

They pointed out that Rock county was weak in two departments despite the high quality of stock—that of not having more tubercular tested herds and herds with cow testing association records. The Nevada men are only in the market for cattle that can be bought subject of the "T. E." test and desire cows with proven test records of production.

It is the purpose of the Nevada men to develop what the market demands.

Want Tested Cows

"We would like cattle with test records for these cow testing association marks are just as valuable as pedigrees for a matter of fact they are pedigrees of an animal's production," declared Mr. Scott.

"That is what we are after good producing animals. If we could find them here—why then we don't have to go elsewhere, although our few trips around here have convinced that this county has a superior grade and type of cattle—just what we want if they only had more production records."

The three were shown the stock in the county by the breed association officers, J. J. MacGowan, Dr. W. A. Murphy, John W. Jones, J. A. Craig, County Agent Glasco and Farm Bureau representatives. The agent looking at Shorthorns declared that he never had seen better cattle of this breed than were in Rock county and these animals were satisfactory as to test records and on the accredited list. Dr. Asthur Knilians also aided in the furnishing of names of tested herds.

Realizing the importance of sales development work among farmers the breeders have started a swopening change in Rock county as to methods in handling the livestock orders.

A central county organization is planned to obtain more accurate information where to locate the stock desired and have representatives versed in livestock on the job to take care of the outside buyers in addition plans are being pushed for county show herds for the state and national fairs to increase the reputation of Rock county as a selling livestock district.

Tomorrow the Last Day of the ANNIVERSARY SALE

AT

The Golden Eagle Levy's

THE SECOND DAY of the sale was a big success. Everybody seemed well pleased and many complimentary remarks were made around and about the store.

For instance, several ladies came in from our neighboring town, Edgerton. They freely expressed themselves, and did not hesitate in telling our salesladies the Suits that The Golden Eagle were offering were by far prettier than they could find elsewhere in the city.

"Your Coats are beautiful!" remarked a gentleman, wife and daughter from Whitewater.

Others remarked how charming the new Dresses were, and much more reasonably priced than they expected to find. In fact they said they had been to Milwaukee and Rockford and other towns and nowhere could they find the assortment and the low price they could find here. This accounts for the excellent business that we are enjoying these days.

Tomorrow will be the Last Day of Mme. Isebell's Sale. Come and lay in a supply for the coming six months while the big 1/2-Price Sale is going on. Everything in Toilet Goods tomorrow at only 1/2 Price—Perfumes, Toilet Water, Powders, Creams, etc.
